Reflections
of the Seventies

"The next thing most like living one's life over again seems to be a recollection of that life, and to make that recollection as durable as possible by putting it down in writing." (Ben Franklin)

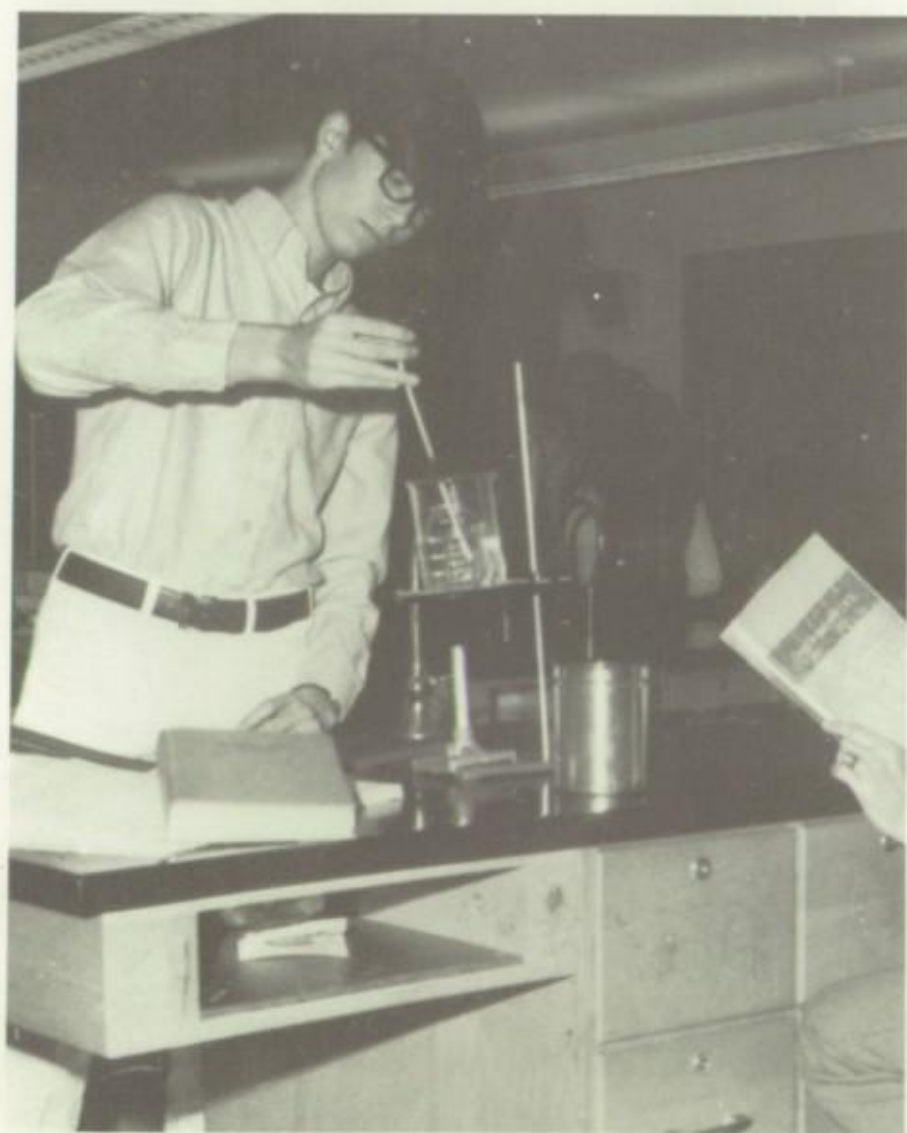

No matter how hard we try, we cannot live the past year over again. But we can remember our life at Wooddale: a life of striving for perfection and of being involved in school and life itself. We reflect upon the past year and school and recall memories, some pleasant, some not. But our minds, reflecting the past as mirrors, must also look forward to the future, as through open windows. So let us fondly recall . . . reminisce . . . and remember . . .

Striving for Perfection

For success in the present, we need reflections of the past. Perfection is only achieved with a glance over the shoulder — a glance at events that shaped our lives — events even as momentous as blowing bubbles in the middle of class or receiving Latin trophies.

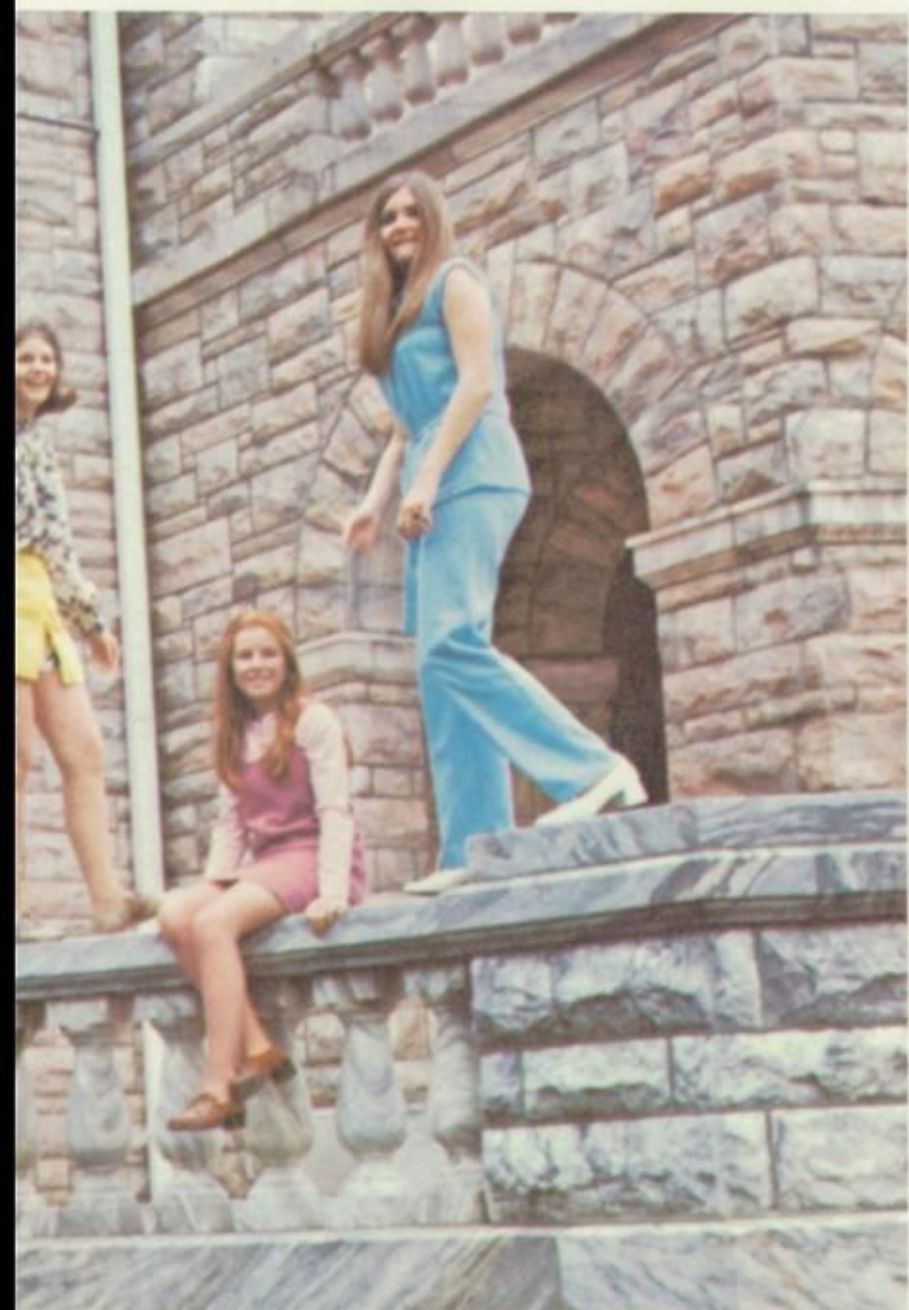

Reflections
of Fun

Memories of fun and pleasure with our friends are just as important as any scientific data or history facts. Reflections of our childhood come forth as we forget about school and enjoyed the carefree life.

Life at School

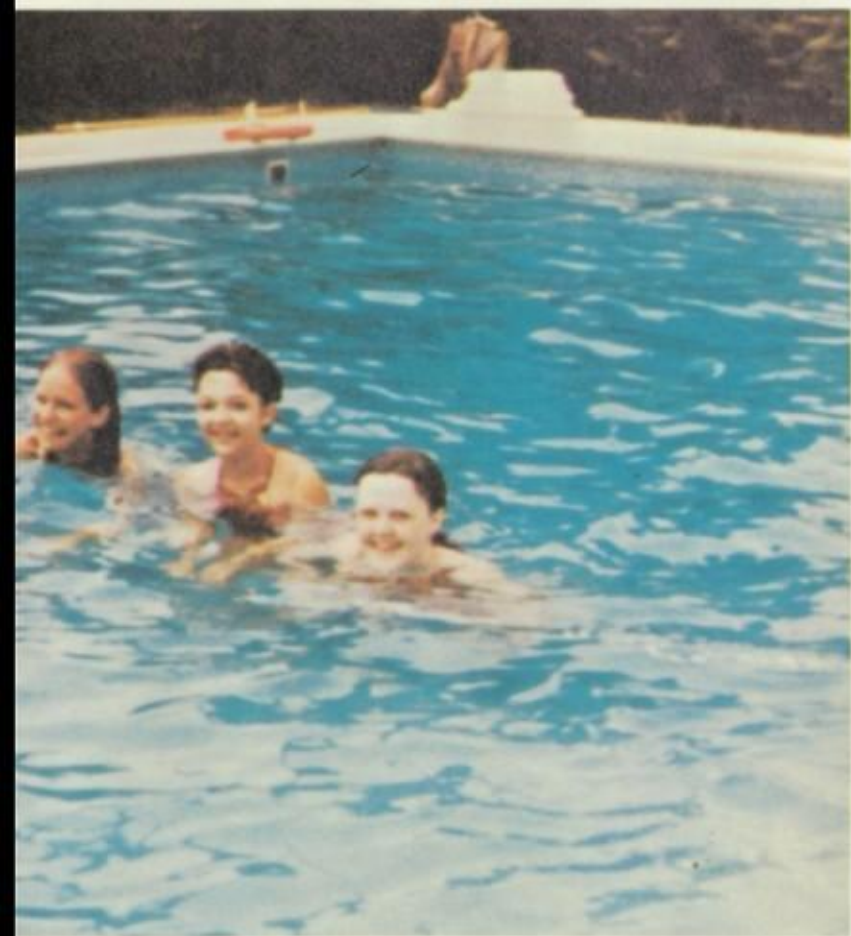

As each of us remember our friends, we see different images that they left in our minds. Some were studious, some were spirited, and others were carefree and barefooted. But as we reflect upon the lives of friends, we are really looking at ourselves.

Reflections of Friendships friendship . . . a many splendored thing . . .

discovering a brand new spring . . . idling away a long summer day . . . welcoming Sweet May with song . . . seeing your best friend crowned Cardinal Queen . . . sharing . . . caring . . . but above all, remembering . . .

Involvement

We cannot go through this life forever one moment without being involved with other people. We recall the leadership and service of others and see the combined efforts evolve into successful school activities.

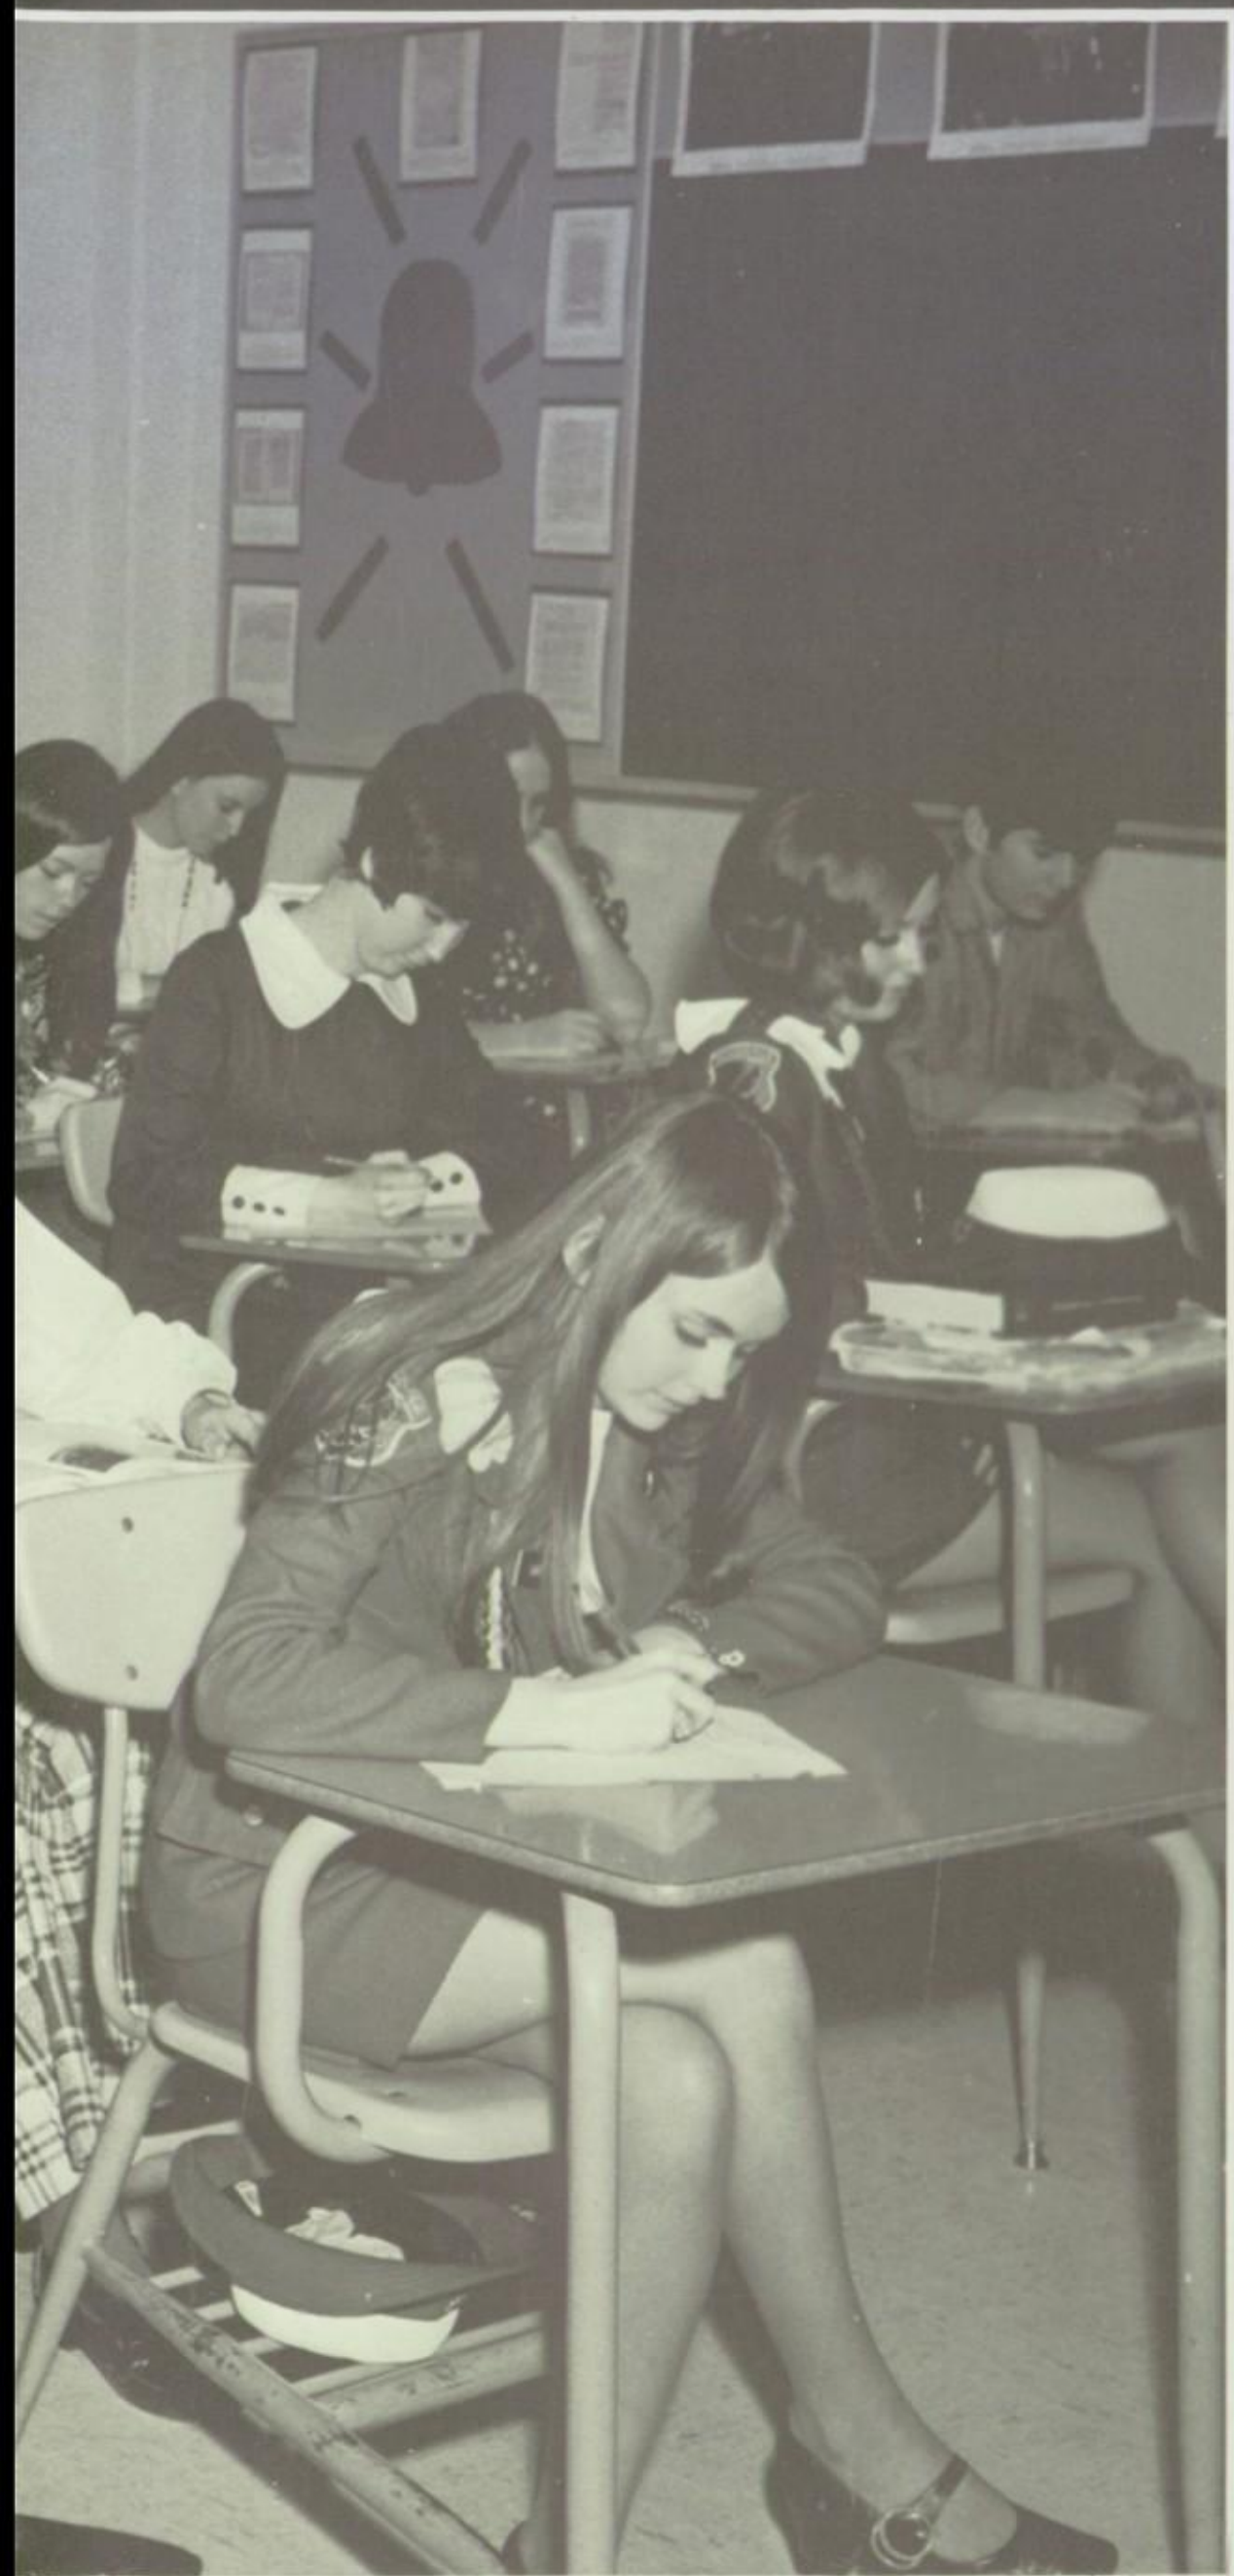

"We've Only Just Begun"

As the school year came to a close, we saw that it was not the end, but just a new beginning. All around we saw reflections of the past, the present, and the future. What has gone before cannot be changed, but we are still able to create new images as we pass from today into tomorrow.

leader of the school . . . the administration . . . words of encouragement . . . to faculty and students . . . his statements are official . . . our principal . . . mr. d. winton simmons . . .

Some of the fondest memories of Wooddale are of the head of the administration, Mr. Simmons. He has led the faculty and student body for the past four years with wisdom, reason and fairness to all concerned. He became involved with the activities of the students while acting as a representative of the established administration.

There are many sides to the life of a principal besides his school. Mr. Simmons enjoys his life as a family man just as much as he enjoys all the Cardinals under his care. We appreciate so very much all that he has done for us at Wooddale and hope that he will continue working for and with the students of Wooddale High School.

Pat Irvin, Bill Morrison, Jeff Wolfe, and classmates present a cake to Mr. Simmons.

Mr. Simmons can always find time to chat with two young ladies, such as Debbie McFarren and Lynn Mansell.

Mr. Simmons gladly listens to all of the teachers suggestions.

Our Principal . . .

Mr. D. Winton Simmons

Our Assistant Principal

a familiar sight . . . patrolling the halls
. . . assistant principal . . . administrator
. . . advisor . . . disciplinarian . . . mr.
robert l. williams . . .

Whenever you roamed the halls without a hall pass, who did you run into — always? Mr. Williams, patrolling the school. This was one of his duties — to see that no student cut class or any strangers strayed into the building. As well as being a busy assistant principal, Mr. Williams was chief disciplinarian and in charge of student books. He was always willing to talk to any student, parent, or faculty member who might have a question concerning school policy, regulations, or discipline. To some, reflections of the past year might be a bit unpleasant, but to most Mr. Williams offered help, advice, and encouragement to the students of Wooddale High School.

Mr. Williams

Mr. Williams finds time out of his busy schedule to relax.

When your job is as important as Mr. Williams, your work often piles up.

Guardians of the Office

Mrs. Marjorie Jones

Mrs. Robbi Rowell

check-in . . . check-out . . . transcripts
. . . computer cards . . . student files
. . . payroll lists . . . guardians of the office . . . mrs. robbi rowell . . . mrs.
marjorie jones . . .

The hub of any school is its office and this was true for Wooddale also. The two secretaries who ran the office and kept chaos from being king were Mrs. Robbi Rowell and Mrs. Marjorie Jones. Daily, they checked on every absent student, sent out transcripts, made announcements, ran off bulletins and tests, and counted money for various class and club projects. Their efficiency and skill kept Wooddale running smoothly and happily for both students and faculty.

Office Assistants

Sidney Carver and Yvonne Pierce prepare to make announcements over the intercom.

mimeographs . . . duplicators . . . stencils . . . absentee sheets . . . bearers of forgotten lunches and paraphernalia to students . . . semi-professional telephone operators . . .

This was the world of an office assistant. The girls were a familiar sight to many students, especially to those who were interrupted in class to receive forgotten lunches, books, projects, coats, anything. It's a hard job to run a school with one or two secretaries, but with many student helpers manning the office, the work was done and all the students were accounted for daily. What chaos would have reigned without the student volunteers.

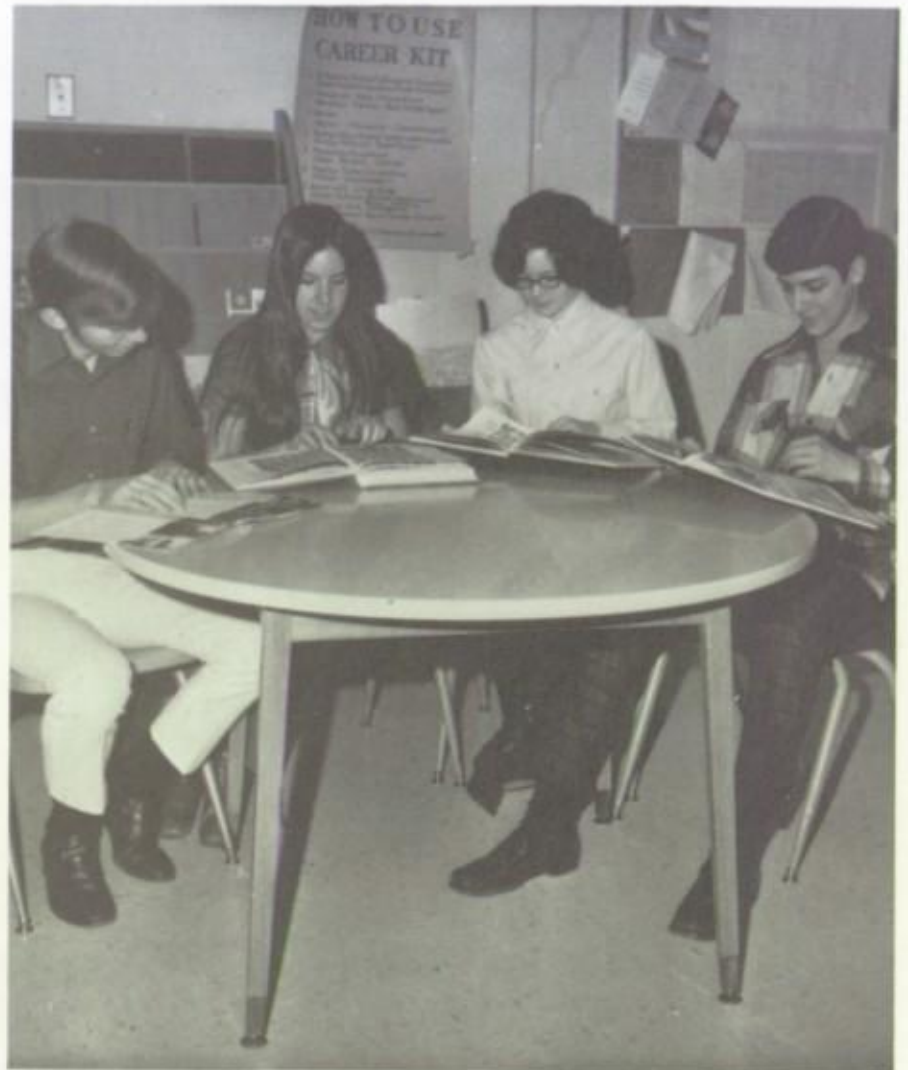

Montye Gill and Sharon McMan run off tests for teachers.

Guidance Assistants

Donna Andrews helps in Guidance by looking up students in the files.

Richard Perkins, Cindy Brook, Pam Kurk, and Neil McNally find guidance interesting.

Jamie Trim studies the colleges which she plans to attend in the future.

checking records . . . filing report cards
 . . . filling out lists . . . keeping an uncluttered bulletin board . . . necessary aids to the counselors . . .

The guidance assistants were the ones who cheerfully toured the school with every new student and delivered various and numerous summons to the guidance office. Invaluable to the counselors, they performed duties that left time for counseling with students — something we all appreciated.

Guidance Counselors

Mrs. Smith is always on hand to help students, such as Billie Dunning.

schedules . . . grades . . . credits . . .
transcripts . . . college conferences . . .
career choices . . . student counseling

Have you ever had a problem that you just had to discuss with someone? The guidance counselors were always willing to listen. Their assistance to seniors in choosing colleges and/or careers was invaluable. The guidance for the underclassmen in setting up schedules was also appreciated. Their willingness to work with the students was what made all of them great friends of everyone at Wooddale.

Working as Guidance counselor isn't an easy job. Ask Mrs. Barnes.

English

Dan Rosson, Donna Reddin, Bettye Azlin, and Keith LeMar find English to be more than just paper work.

Mrs. Whitney

Mrs. Ruffin

Miss Hewes

Mrs. Turner

Mr. Raney

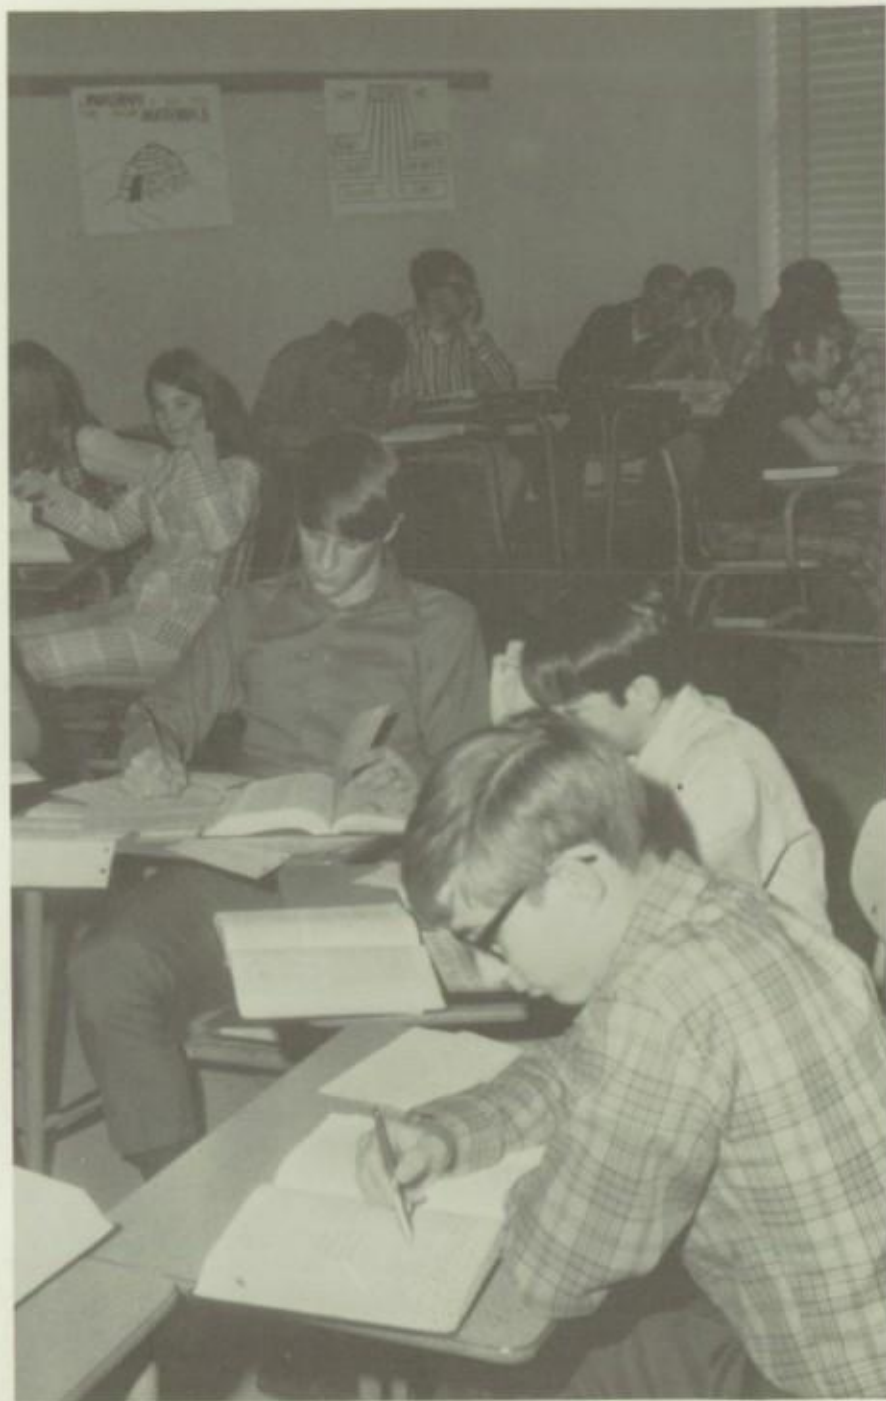

Mrs. Blanchard

Mrs. Stansbury

Bob Daily, Steve Stewman, and Morgan Dowdy enact an early morality play.

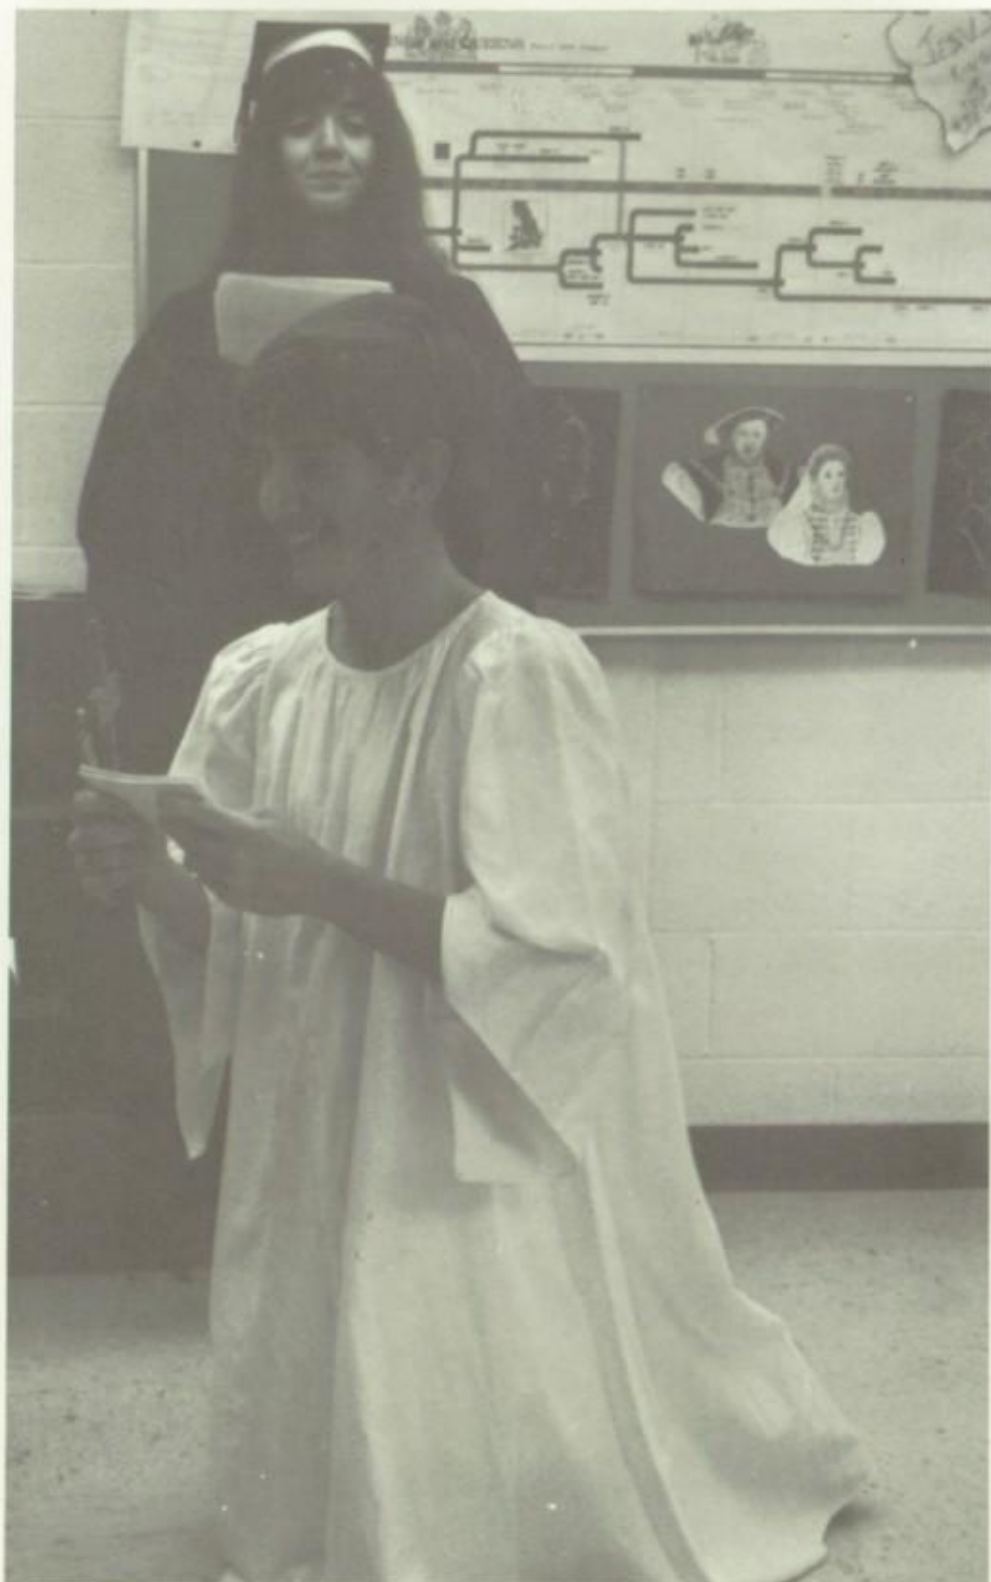

Discussion groups have been found to be quite helpful.

Karen Feathers, Dianna Garner, Carrie Jean Wilson and Mary Linda Wright bring back the fashions of the Middle Ages.

Brenda Ingram, Denise Sills, and Barbara Halliday sing at the Transcendentalism program.

Walter Hunter, and Kathy Morgan give an example of a morality play to their class.

ballads . . . lectures . . . plays . . . poetry projects . . .
grammar and literature . . . the transcendentalism play
. . . oral book reports . . . notes, notes and more notes
. . . finally — a better understanding of the english language . . .

How many of you ever had the urge to sit down and write a story or poem — because you wanted to? Many times these were assignments, but through various means and methods, some of us finally did achieve an insight to the mechanics and great works of the English language. A group of students presented the transcendentalism play at Southside. Teachers gave creative assignments which seemed impossible, but really were not that bad. And along with the creative came the basic knowledge of our language and our linguistic heritage.

Speech

drama . . . comedy . . . debates . . . monologues . . .
demonstrative talks . . . communication with other students
. . . poise and ability to speak before a group . . .
accomplished through the speech department . . . by mrs.
jan parnell . . .

Remember this famous line? "Charlie Brown, you're such a blockhead!" Who can forget the Christmas play Charlie Brown's Christmas put on by our Speech department? Many people thought speech class was just theatrics, but the students thought different. They prepared speeches on problems in today's society, gave demonstrations, and tried to evoke certain feelings and emotions through their speaking. Speech was a lot of hard work — ask any student — or even Mrs. Parnell but acquiring the ability to speak confidently was a just reward.

Phil Mayberry uses his talent to the fullest in "Charlie Brown's Christmas."

Kathy Morgan and Bruce Levenson display their acting talent to the students.

Mrs. Parnell

Suzie Chiles and Kathy Morgan find it fun throwing snow balls at each other in the Christmas play.

Latin Alive at Wooddale

David Bell and Melody Hryhorchuk prepare their Caesar.

Miss Aste

Cholly Goldman finds the pressures of Latin too much to endure.

Janice Hudgens, Dan Rosson, Diana Garner, and Keith Lemar read to their guest (Miss Aste).

"veni, vidi, vici" . . . slaves and masters . . . declensions . . . vergil's birthday . . . hail, caesar . . .

Did a new student ever ask you what went on in the room with all of the columns? Only the Latin students could accurately relate the proceedings insidg those walls. But to them, Latin was definitely not a dead language. To them it came alive through many events, such as Virgil's birthday party. As they mastered this ancient language, they enjoyed the rich life of the Romans and made Latin live at Wooddale.

verbs . . . tenses . . . discussions of french philosophy . . . extra skits by students . . . poems . . . plays . . . greater insight to the french language . . .

"Bonjour, mes amis. Voulez-vous un bon-bon?" This was heard quite often as French students practiced their accents on customers at the French Booth at the Open House. But students learned more than just vocabulary and grammar. Discussions on French philosophy and life prodded the imaginations of the students and a few eager amateur actors even presented skits. And all were better able to understand the French way of life as well as the language.

French

Mrs. Blanchard

Linda Little, Missy Taylor, and Cathy Damron sell their pastries at the French Club booth.

The Mardi Gras parade was enjoyed by all.

Mike Snider, Robb Parker, Robert Andrews, and Cathy Damron enjoy being in the French play.

Spanish

Donna Aucoin, Susan Pittman, Debbie Dirkson, Janice Bedsworth and "friends."

Mrs. Bourland

A pinata is admired by Heidi Krogh, Sonna Andrews, Susan Pittman, Donna Aucoin, and Karen Edgar.

Diane Hyde, Karen Edgar and Heidi Krogh find the language lab quite interesting.

pinatas . . . tacos . . . sombreros . . . panchos . . . a spanish christmas party . . . understanding our neighbors to the south . . . spanish customs and manners . . .

Have you ever traveled to Mexico or Spain? Probably not, but the students of Spanish did so in their minds. In their study of Spanish, they also studied the customs, foods and ways of living of Spanish-speaking peoples. They experienced the fun of a Spanish Christmas party while learning the fundamentals of grammar. Only through the study of a modern language, such as Spanish, is it possible to learn more about Spanish cultures around the world.

social studies . . . geography . . . world history . . . american history . . . humanities class . . . economics . . . government . . . understanding the problems of the past . . . better comprehension of the future . . .

Were you at the Constitutional Convention? Not the first one, of course, but the one enacted by some of the American History students. Social Studies wasn't simply memorization of facts and dates, but a very real study of social conditions, reasons for past events, and possible solutions for problems today and in the future. What better way to learn about ourselves than by studying the history of those before us?

Keith LeMar explores the world by means of a globe.

Cynthia McCartney finds her specimen by looking through a microscope.

Jackie Patterson and Charles Verska measure out a chemical for their biology lab.

Science

Mike A. Davis and Carlton Cook find that exact measurements are necessary for science.

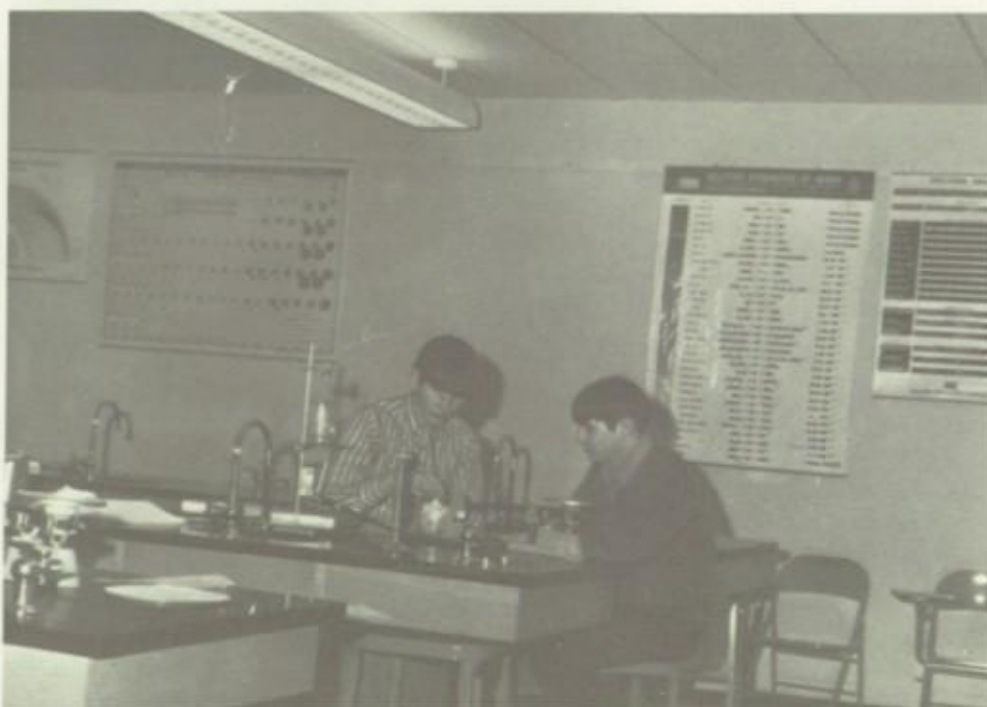

Mr. Riley

Mrs. Wild

The lab assistants are: Cathy Cook, Dianna Garner, Nancy Mackley, Cindy Lee, and Nancy Allenbaugh.

Sammy Hawkins and Mike Richardson get involved in their experiments.

test tubes . . . microscopes . . . formulas . . .
dissections . . . laws of nature . . . experiments and lab reports . . . scientific minds explore the world around us . . . physics . . . biology . . .

You could always tell when a chemistry or biology class was conducting experiments — usually the smell penetrated the whole second floor. But this was all a part of students learning about the laws and principles which govern our natural environment. There was always much work and experimentation in the science labs, but occasional field trips helped ease the way. But you always had to be careful in science if you weren't you could blow up the entire school.

geometric figures . . . graphing . . . theorems . . . principles
 . . . word problems . . . algebra I . . . geometry . . . algebra
 II . . . trigonometry . . . precision . . . accuracy!

When did you learn to count? From that very day, a whole new world of mathematics was opened forever. Math is usually required to include through geometry, because the logic and reasoning learned is applied throughout our entire lives. The scientific world of numbers was revealed to many students this past year — with some wishing they had never learned to add and multiply. But most were the victors in the only course where the answer was either right or wrong — and unfortunately no "maybes" about it.

Diane Deaton puts a geometry problem on the board.

Danny Edmund attempts to explain a problem with much difficulty.

Danny Droune observes the math projects done by the students.

Mathematics

Susan Miller and Amy Streebeck proudly display the posters which were made by some of the math students.

Greg Newman and Craig Fisher point out geometric figures.

Distributive Education

Mr. McAllister

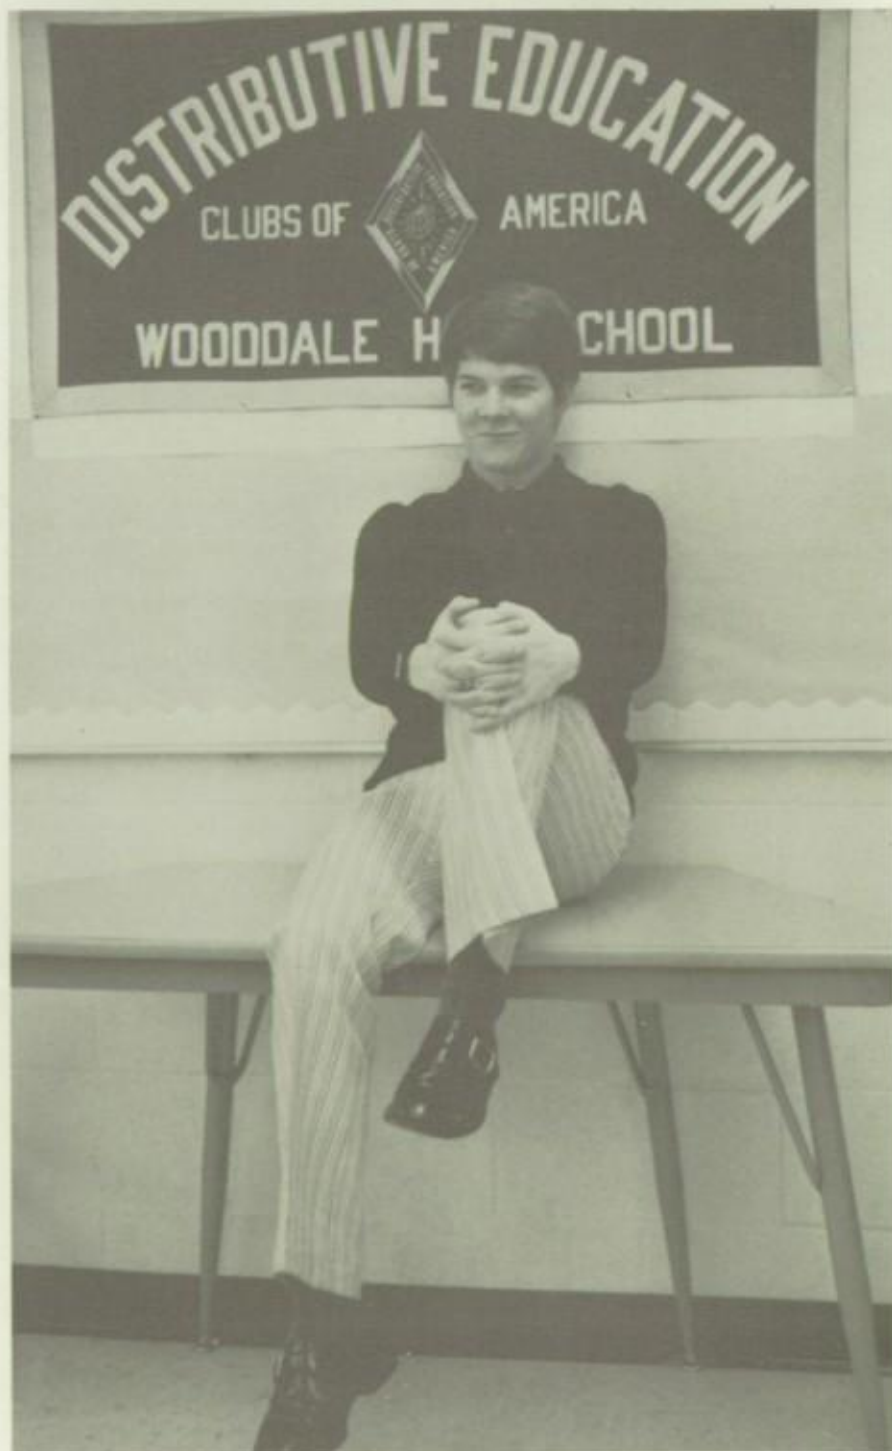

Ricky McDowell, Jeff Wolfe, and Johnny Baker thoroughly enjoyed the D.E. Banquet.

D.E. is a subject of learning.

marketing . . . salesmanship . . . promotion . . .
education in class . . . application on the job . . .

Why did some students get to leave school every day at noon? They were in D.E. — or Distributive Education. In this course the students learned skills in salesmanship, merchandising, and were taught how to apply for a job. Such skills were excellent for those planning to continue in these lines of work and the students probably learned more from on-the-job experience than from any textbook. Wooddale's D.E. department was a great contribution to the preparation of young people for the future.

typing . . . bookkeeping . . . shorthand . . . office machines . . . business techniques . . .

Remember hearing all the noise on the west side of the second floor every day? It was the sound of diligent fingers learning the keys of a typewriter or the mechanics of office machines. Our business courses provided much experience for students planning to work after graduation. But such business courses were great for our people whether or not they planned a career in business.

Did you ever want to park in the student parking lot, only to find that you couldn't? It was probably ROTC drill day when all the cadets and officers dressed for inspection and drill. The training these boys received included life saving, first aid, military rules and drills, and the use of ammunition. These skills will be a great service to those planning to serve in the armed forces, but the discipline and training will help them all the rest of their lives.

Joel Cunningham adjusts well to inspections.

 girls learning to run a home . . .
 practicing to be a housewife . . .

How many times did you pass the Home Economics kitchens and smell the aroma of something cooking — or maybe burning? These were the girls learning to be the homemakers and housewives of the future. However, there is more to Home Ec. than just cooking and sewing. Here the girls learned how to care for young children, balance a budget, and decorate a room. Remembering these skills for these girls will be the basis of their home management long after they have left Wooddale.

Diane Whitney and Charlotte Holmes put up the Home Economics' bulletin board.

The sounds of drills and lathes continuously filled the halls down by the shops where many important skills of mechanics and industrial arts were learned. The boys learned to work with their hands and make useful articles out of blocks of wood and metal. Even if they do not plan a career using these skills, they will be useful in many garage workshops of the future.

What did you do when a lecture became intolerably boring? You doodled all over your notes. Everyone needs a way to express his feelings and emotions. Many used art class to do just that, constructively, in their sketches, sculptures and paintings. Under the guidance of Mr. Garner, creativity and imagination became works of art. We are proud of an art department that encourages students to use their hands and minds together.

 . . . the students explore their minds . . .

A favorite haven of students from study hall was the library. Under the supervision of Mrs. Banks and Mrs. Phillips, we found information, wrote term papers, or simply read a book because we wanted to. Several new facilities helped us discover the works and thoughts of many of the great writers of the past and the writers of the present. We all needed a chance, every now and then, to be able to relax and read, and refresh our minds with knowledge.

Teresa Carter and Nancy Phillips are some of the library assistants.

Vocal Music

 . . . all-state . . . quad-state . . . chorus . . . concerts . . .
 vocal music . . .

Whenever a hit song came over the radio, what did you do? Usually you started singing with the record. We all express ourselves somehow or another, and many Wooddale students used vocal music as an outlet. There was more than learning songs . . . concerts were given, Swing Choir was formed, several outstanding students were chosen for the Quad State festival and the All-State Choir. We enjoyed their participation in our assemblies and will never forget the fine work for "On a Clear Day."

The Swing Choir also receives enjoyment from their singing.

Denise, their singing can't be all that bad.

People who don't play a musical instrument usually think band is an easy subject, but a lot of hard work and practice was the means for perfecting the music of band. They showed their ability quite well at the Jazz concert last fall. And this year, Wooddale was host to the West-Tennessee bands with several of our own people participating. Their participation at assemblies, concerts, and pep rallies added a great deal of enthusiasm to the school spirit of Wooddale.

Didn't we all wish that we could keep ourselves in shape? The students in Physical Education didn't seem to have any problem at all; exercises were routine to them. But they also learned to play golf, basketball, tennis, and even learned to bowl. The many varied activities and sports kept students interested in this program of physical fitness which existed at Wooddale last year.

Did you ever hear of a snake named "Ratso?" or a rabbit named "Bugs?" or even a tarantula (forgive us) deceased? You would have if you had been a member of the Science Club. These were only a few of the pets they kept. In the past year, the Science Club took several interesting field trips, including an excursion to Shelby Forest. Many professional speakers were part of their programs also, such as Mr. Barry Fox, who spoke on pollution control. We all must be aware of the world around us, and the Science Club helped its members realize the vastness of our universe.

Most of us just loved to get into a heated debate every now and then. A perfect time for such discussions was the meetings of the Current Affairs Club. Many controversial issues were discussed with many different ideas and views of problems in today's society, such as the war, women's lib, and ecology. The members took a great interest in our world and its problems and explored possible solutions to our world in the future.

After a hard day at school, we all enjoyed a little refreshment and prime sources of such nourishment were the numerous bakesales sponsored by the F.H.A. The girls, all interested in being homemakers one day, sent fruit baskets to the Mary Galloway Home for the aged at Christmas as well as caroling. They had speakers come to their meetings, one being a representative from the Sears Charm School. The girls enjoyed their club immensely and we are sure they will be wonderful homemakers in America.

Life at Wooddale last year can be called a year of cooperation and a prime example of this is in the Sabre Club. Together the ROTC officers and their sponsors gave their time to help the needy at Christmas time. But they also worked together at having fun on picnics and hayrides. The Sabre Club was an efficient outlet for pleasure after all the hard work by the officers and sponsors on the drills and duties of the military.

Isn't everything a little easier when someone is near by? The same is true for a ROTC officer and his sponsor. And yet the sponsors should be recognized for all the hard work they put into the precision drills that they practiced every day. They still found time to help collect for the March of Dimes, though, by the "Walk-a-Thon." These girls should be commended for the time and effort they have devoted to the ROTC department at Wooddale.

The talent show in December gave the girls a chance to display their own talent as individuals. The enthusiasm that the Sabrettes spread will help us always recall the school spirit of the past year.

Who could forget when the Memphis Jaycees hosted the national convention for America's Ten Most Outstanding Men? Certainly not the several members of our own Jaycees that participated. As well as this, they were a great help in the drive to save American prisoners of war in Vietnam. Their service in the community and their assistance to the Memphis Junior Chamber of Commerce was great experience for those involved and a wonderful chance to show Memphis that Wooddale students care about their community.

A lot of people never get to go to New Orleans for Mardi Gras, so last year the French Club brought Mardi Gras to Wooddale. Everyone enjoyed the parade and especially the candy thrown by the members. The club had several other interesting activities including the pastry booth at Open House, serenading shoppers at Eastgate Shopping Center with French Christmas carols, the annual banquet at Café St. Clair, and attending a performance of Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme at Memphis State University. The members of the French Club certainly had an exciting year while exploring the possibilities of French living.

All year, parties were held at Wooddale, but the most famous was the birthday party for Vergil given by the Latin Club. And it was a mournful day on the Ides of March when Latin students paid tribute to their dead leader. The splendor of Greece reigned along with the glory of Rome as Greek was conquered by the noble Roman scholars. The fun and festivities of the annual banquet highlighted a year of living in the style of the richest civilization in history.

In their attempt to learn more about Spanish life and customs, they had much fun at the annual fiesta where all the members dressed up as Spaniards. The activities of the past year helped make Spanish come alive to the students trying to master the language.

Who sold those beautiful Christmas candles at the Open House in October? The Distributive Education Club. They also had many other money raising projects, as well as handling all the publicity for the March of Dimes. These members, all participants in the DE program, also toured WMC and met Mayor Loeb. Their many projects and programs were great fun and helpful preparation for the world of business.

Their many services were well rewarded as they won top honors for the Commercial Appeal's Community Involvement Competition. The TOEC club brought Wooddale High honors when it was chosen the Teenage Girls Club of the Year by the Commercial Appeal, for community projects.

We sincerely hope that the 1971 Cardinal has let you fondly remember the past year at Wooddale High.

Everyone knew about the athletic events for boys, but how many knew what the girls were doing? The Girls Athletic Association, commonly called G.A.A. sponsored many Wooddale girls in track and field events and volleyball tournaments in city-wide competitions. Our 1971
Cardinal Queen and Her Court

talent . . . poise . . . beauty . . . grace . . . charm
 . . . all found in our cardinal queen — susan pittman . . .

Who could forget the exciting night of the Third Annual Cardinal Queen Pageant? The brilliant colors, the charming and talented contestants and before the evening was over, a new Cardinal Queen, Susan Pittman. Susan, representing the Spanish Club, sang "Applause," from the Broadway musical, dressed as a famous basketball player. She was crowned and attended by our two previous queens, Cindy Miller and Terri Pearson.

Carrie Jean Wilson was selected first alternate and Barbara Halliday second alternate. The prized title of Miss Congeniality was awarded by the contestants themselves to Donna Aucoin. Even though only one queen could be chosen, all the contestants represented their clubs and organizations very well and showed us that Wooddale is brimming with talent.

Mr. Wooddale

mr. wooddale . . . personality
. . . scholarship . . . service to the school . . . mr. wooddale
— walter hunter . . .

The title of Mr. Wooddale is a special honor and not one to be given away lightly. This year, the faculty chose Walter Hunter as Mr. Wooddale for his outstanding contributions to our school. Among many others, he was valedictorian of the class of 1971, president of the National Honor Society, president of Thespians, the Memphis Press-Scimitar Teen-Ager of the Year, a member of The Society of Outstanding American High School Students, and a National Merit Scholar. Walter gave everything possible to his school and thus deserved this honor of Mr. Wooddale.

Miss Wooddale

miss wooddale . . . poise . . .
character . . . contributions to the school . . . miss wooddale
— janiss hudgens . . .

The honor of being Miss Wooddale this year was bestowed upon Janiss Hudgens, who certainly deserved the title. Among other activities, Janiss served as drum major for two years, was a member of the National Honor Society, Wooddale's candidate for the Memphis Junior Miss Pageant in which she placed second alternate, a charter member of Tri-M and a R.O.T.C. sponsor. Janiss served Wooddale well and earned her title of Miss Wooddale.

Homecoming Queen

spirit week . . . pep rallies . . . red, white, and blue filled the halls . . . culminated by the homecoming game . . . and a new queen — susan pittman . . .

Spirit ran high last year at Wooddale especially during Homecoming week. And on Friday night, Susan Pittman was chosen 1970-71 Homecoming Queen by the football team. Amid the excitement of the team's victory, Susan and her court shone with radiance. The crowning ceremony, conducted by the 1969-70 Queen, Sharon Sutch Ingram, can be remembered as the first real homecoming for Wooddale.

And the Court of 1971

the court . . . smiles of happiness . . . tears of sadness
. . . memories were made . . .

Chosen along with Susan were Barbara Halliday as first alternate and Kathy Warren as second alternate. All the girls of the court radiated poise and beauty. As some of the girls and fans saw their last high school Homecoming come to a close, both smiles of happiness and memories of excitement and spirit filled the air.

It was a cloudy, windy day in November that saw the crowning of the Sabre Queen and her court, but the radiance of the girls shone through. Mary Vrska was chosen as queen with Melinda Schuette as first alternate and Kathy Warren as second alternate. Our lovely girls represented Wooddale well in the Veteran's Day Parade as the Sabre court.

May Day

booths . . . games . . . may day court . . . the coronation . . . queen — melinda schuette . . . king — david underwood . . .

The royal festivities each year which come with May Day were especially beautiful this year. The coronation was combined with the Spring Concert and the musical background of "The Sound of Music" and "South Pacific" were just right for the crowning of King David Underwood and Queen Melinda Schuette. The Royal Court consisted of seniors Melanie Timm, Kathy Warren, Steve Carter and Jeff Subick, juniors Pam Taylor and Tom Long, sophomores Bill Summers and Pat Gordon.

Junior Miss

city-wide competition . . . talent . . . practice . . . poise . . .
charm . . . our representative to the memphis junior miss pageant — janiss hudgens . . .

Again, this year as Wooddale sent a representative to the Memphis Junior Miss Pageant, our girl placed high in the finals. Janiss Hudgens represented Wooddale well as she was chosen second alternate. Her talent of leading an imaginary band was of an original nature which caught the eyes of the judges.

Competition was stiff as girls came from every school in the city. Judged in the areas of talent, sportswear, and formal wear, the girls performed at their best. Janiss' combination of poise, charm, and talent was outstanding as she competed for Wooddale. Janiss justly deserved this high honor and all of Wooddale was proud of her.

Sponsor's Choice

sponsor's choice . . . service above and beyond the call of duty . . . barbara halliday

Each year, the yearbook sponsors choose a student who deserves special recognition for outstanding service to Wooddale High School. This year Barbara Halliday earned this honor with her selfless giving of time and talent to her school. Among other activities and honors, she was vice-president of the National Honor Society, Miss Senior Class, most Helpful to the Senior Class, captain of the Sabrettes, treasurer of the Senior Class, second alternate in the Cardinal Queen Pageant, and first alternate for Homecoming Queen. This amazing record can only be matched by Barbara's personality and talent which has brought her the honor of Sponsor's Choice.

Hall of Fame

character . . . leadership
. . . service to the school . . .
outstanding students of the
hall of fame . . .

Every year, the faculty and the yearbook staff selects outstanding seniors to become members of the Hall of Fame. Each one has excelled in his own special area and served Wooddale in such a way that this honor was bestowed upon him. The Cardinal proudly presents the senior Hall of Fame.

WALTER HUNTER

Walter was selected as Mr. Wooddale for his many outstanding activities. Among many others, he was valedictorian, president of the National Honor Society, president of the Thespians, and the Press-Scimiter Teen-ager of the Year.

GENE STUBBLEFIELD

Gene was known at Wooddale as the Most Talented student. He had the male lead in "On a Clear Day," was president of the Concert Choir, vice-president of Tri-M and was also a member of Thespians and the Swing Choir.

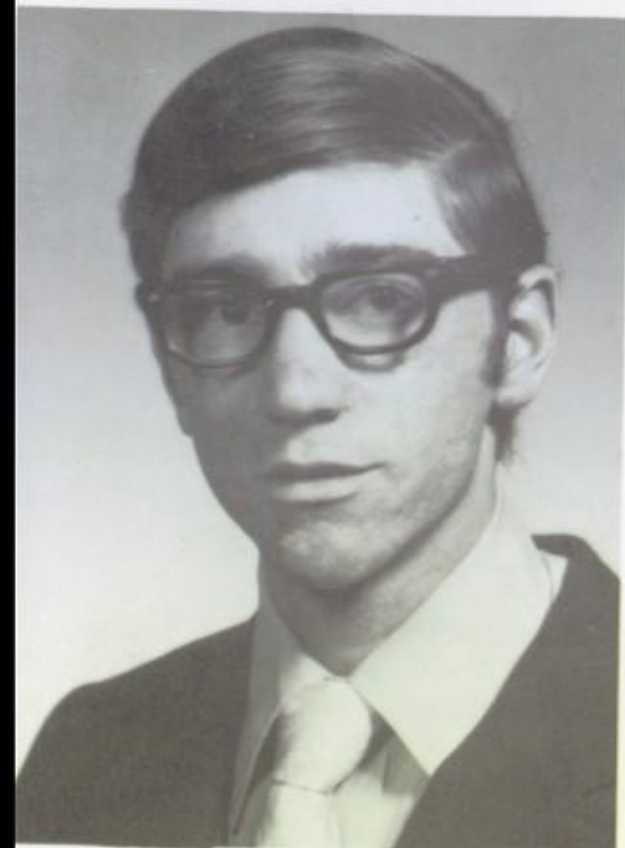

CATHERINE DAMRON

Cathy, a newcomer to Wooddale, was also valedictorian, member of the National Honor Society, and copy editor of the Cardinal. She was also an office assistant.

STEVE CARTER

Steve was a member of the French and Science clubs at Wooddale. He was a very active member of the Jaycees and served as their secretary-treasurer.

DAN ROSSON

Dan, a member of the yearbook staff, also excelled in the science department. He was president of the Science Club as well as being a member of the National Honor Society and Latin Club.

JANISS HUDGENS

Janiss was also selected Miss Wooddale this year. She was also the band's drum major, our Junior Miss contestant, a member of the National Honor Society, a R.O.T.C. Sponsor and the teen fashion board.

BETTYE AZLIN

Bettye, as editor of the yearbook, devoted both her time and talent to guide the staff in the production of the yearbook. She was also a member of the Latin Club and a library assistant.

CINDY LEE

Cindy was well known for her artistic ability at Wooddale. She was chosen Best Artist of the Senior Class, and was also a member of the National Honor Society, and vice-president of the Art Club.

MIKE COOK

Mike was chosen the Distributive Education outstanding student of the year at Wooddale. He was a member of DECA and once served on the Cardinal Quill and rifle team.

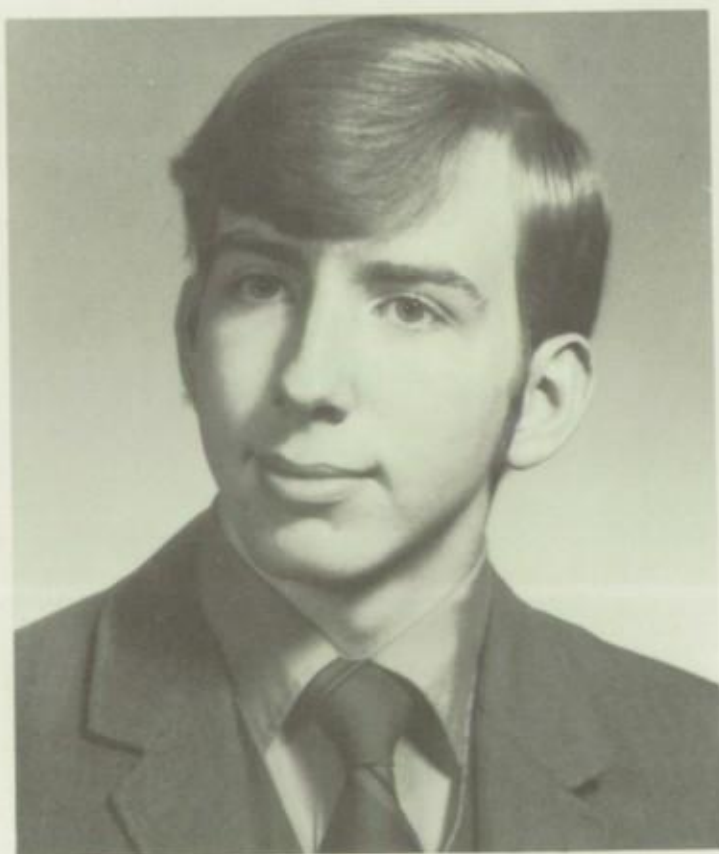

SAM BLUSTEIN

Sam, as president of the Senior Class, gave much of his time to our school. He was also voted Mr. Senior Class, a member of the National Honor Society, the basketball team, and the W-Club and Director of Traffic on the Student Council.

ROBERT ANDREWS

Robert was especially active in the social studies area of Wooddale. He was on the Quiz-'Em-On-the-Air team for two years, current affairs president as a junior, a member of the National Honor Society, and a Student Council representative.

RICHARD PERKINS

Richard served in many capacities at Wooddale. He was treasurer of the National Honor Society, secretary-treasurer of the Concert Choir, Director of Sanitation of the Student Council and also a member of the Swing Choir and Tri-M.

ELIZABETH KIRBY

Elizabeth was salutatorian of the Senior Class. She was treasurer of the French Club, vice-president of the Current Affairs Club, a member of the Quiz-'Em-On-the-Air team, a member of Tri-M and the National Honor Society.

MIKE TURPIN

Mike served Wooddale well as president of the Student Council. He was a member of the football, basketball, and baseball teams. He was also chosen a teen-ager of the week.

SUSAN PITTMAN

Susan won many honors at Wooddale including Homecoming Queen. She was also captain of the cheerleaders, girls vice-president of the Student Council and a teen-ager of the week.

CARRIE JEANNE WILSON

Carrie Jeanne was another talented student at Wooddale. She portrayed the Snow Queen in the famous ballet for Memphis. She was also the secretary of the National Honor Society, a member of the Concert Choir and Spanish Club.

BARBARA HALLIDAY

Barbara was given the honor of Sponsor's Choice for her outstanding service to Wooddale. She was voted Miss Senior Class, vice-president of the National Honor Society, co-captain of the Sponsors and captain of the Sabrettes.

Hall of Fame

KEITH LeMAR

Keith, as co-editor of the yearbook, was a tremendous help to the Cardinal staff. In his years at Wooddale, he was also in the National Honor Society as well as a member of the Latin Club.

MARY VRSKA

Mary was chosen as the 1970 Sabre Queen of Wooddale. She was also on the yearbook staff as well as being secretary of the Senior Class, a R.O.T.C. Sponsor, and a Sabrette.

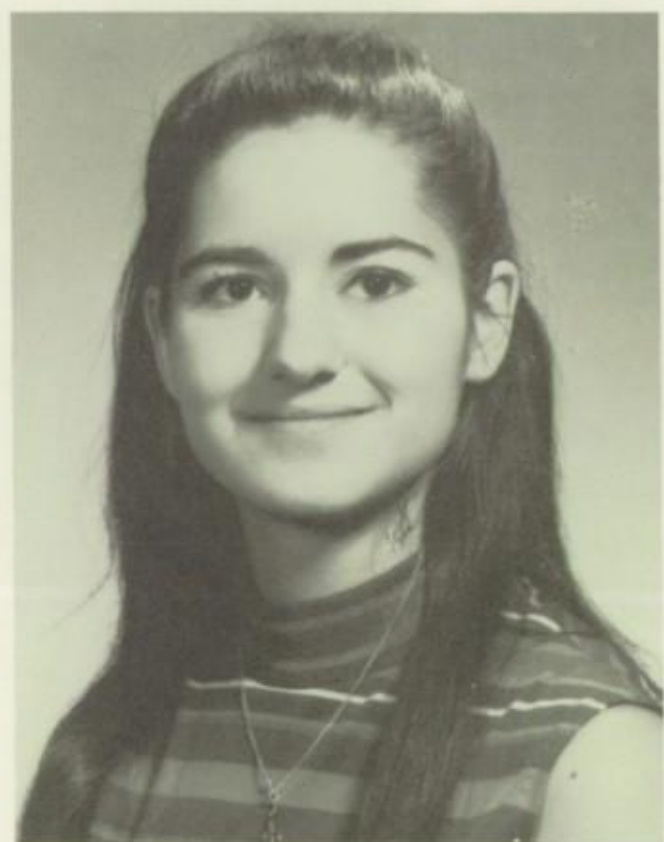

DONNA URBAN

Donna served at Wooddale as Lieutenant Colonel of the R.O.T.C. Sponsors. Among other activities, she was vice-president of TOEC, a member of VOE, and the Sabrettes.

STEVE GRIFFIN

Steve was an outstanding student in the math and science departments of Wooddale. He was also a member of the National Honor Society, the band, and the Math and Science Clubs.

PAT VERBICK

Pat was known at Wooddale for her fine singing ability which captured her the lead of "On a Clear Day." She was also a member of the National Honor Society, vice-president of the Concert Choir, vice-president of Thespians, and treasurer of Tri-M.

Hall of Fame

DONNA REDDIN

Donna, a member of the yearbook staff, gave much time to the Cardinal. She was also a member of the National Honor Society and the Science Club.

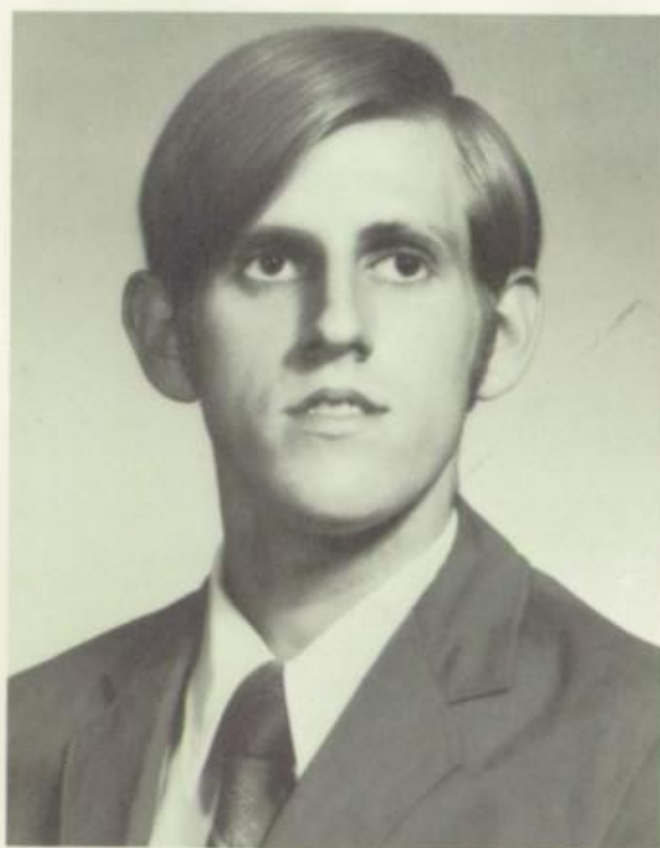

BARBARA JOHNSON

Barbara excelled in the physical education department of Wooddale. She was president of G.A.A., captain of the volleyball team, as well as being a member of the National Honor Society.

BARBARA BROWN

Barbara also proved her talents in our P.E. department of Wooddale. She was the treasurer of G.A.A., a member of the volleyball team as well as the National Honor Society and the Latin Club.

HOWARD GRISHAM

Howard was well-known at Wooddale for his participation in sports. He was on the basketball and track teams as well as being a member of the National Honor Society.

SHERRI HURDLE

Sherri, another newcomer to Wooddale, was selected as Most Likely to Succeed of the Senior Class. She was also a member of the National Honor Society, president of the Current Affairs Club and a Student Council Representative.

Who could forget the ringing sounds of the year's spring musical, "On a Clear Day?" the music and drama departments did a fantastic job of presenting this Broadway musical. Daisy was played by Pat Verbick and Melody Hrynorchuk, and Dr. Brucker was played by Gene Stubblefield. Under the direction of Mrs. Jan Parnell and Miss Shirley Witte, the cast put forth their best to present an unforgettable play. The scenery, created by Mr. Earl Garner and the band, directed by Mr. Daryl Vinson were also the finest for any high school. Congratulations to all who were involved in "On a Clear Day."

members of the national honor society . . .

One of the greatest honors that the faculty can bestow on a student is election into the National Honor Society. The students of the National Honor Society maintained high qualities of character, leadership, scholarship and service. Service was seen through their efforts to clean the parking lot and collect for the hemophilia drive. Their ambition and drive was not daunted even as they raised money by selling nearly 500 dozen donuts. Certainly, great leadership and character was shown by our outstanding students of the National Honor Society.

During the school year, special awards and honors came in thick and fast. Based on academic achievement, athletic prowess, and artistic endeavor, these coveted honors came to Wooddale students. Some of the outstanding recipients are pictured here. These were among many other awards made on the annual Wooddale Honors Day. It was a proud day for students and faculty.

Debbie Matthews and Cathy Benoit won first place in the Sears Sew-a-Rama.

Kathy Morgan won first place in the Kingsbury Tournament in the Potpourri category.

As the Memphis Press-Scimitar's Teen-ager of the Year, Walter Hunter received a $1,000 scholarship to the college of his choice.

Honors

Sam Blustein received the Herff Engineering Scholarship.

Business and Professional Women's Essay Award was presented to Pat Verbick.

The Elks Nursing Scholarship was earned by Jane Caldwell.

Richard Perkins was one of the National Merit competition students.

Bob Patton received an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

The governing force of the Wooddale student body was always the Student Council. This year, under the leadership of Mike Turpin, the council was especially effective. The members sponsored a basketball game, giving all proceeds to the March of Dimes. They also had charge of Wooddale's part in the Walk-for-Mankind and numerous other projects.

outstanding seniors . . . leaders of the class of 1971 . . . the ones who got things done . . . miss senior class — barbara halliday . . . mr. senior class — sam blustein . . .

Everyone in the senior class was ever thankful to the two students who led the class of 1971 so effectively. Sam Blustein and Barbara Halliday gave more than the required time, talent, and patience in leading their class. Without Sam as president and Barbara as treasurer, the many projects and activities would not have existed. The senior class proudly bestowed the honor of Mr. and Miss Senior Class on Sam and Barbara in grateful appreciation of their devotion to the class of 1971.

modeling . . . experience in fashions . . . representing wooddale . . . the teen fashion boards . . .

Several of our girls this year represented Wooddale on various fashion boards. These girls modeled for their various stores while gaining experience and knowledge in the world of fashion. These Wooddale representatives were Janiss Hudgens for Sears, Suzanne Fay and Melanie Timm for Lowensteins, Gay McRae for Park Belts, Diane Duncan for Gerber's and Shainbergs, and Becky White for Goldsmiths.

Cotton Carnival Royalty

floor committee . . . dances . . . people from all over the city . . . people of the cotton carnival royalty . . .

This year, as the Cotton Carnival rolled around, Wooddale pitched in and helped. Steve Hurdle, Sherri Horne, Laura Grady, and Bob Pugh were on the floor committee. They entertained out-of-town guests, blew up balloons, and transformed the Holiday Inn Theatre into a dance hall. Walter Hunter and Janiss Hudgens, being Mr. and Miss Wooddale, went along hoping to become ambassador and ambassadress. They competed against the other Mr. and Miss High Schools. This was topped off by the dance at the Holiday Inn Theatre. It was surely a night to be remembered by all.

Everyone loved the fall of the school year — the blazing colors, the brisk weather, and especially the excitement of watching the Wooddale Cardinals march on to victory. The season made an excellent showing for our boys with 5 wins against only 4 losses and one tie. But more important than their record is the spirit, cooperation, and good sportsmanship evident at the games and never-ending practices. All of us at Wooddale are proud of our great football team and the school spirit they helped us to find.

coaches . . . captain . . . co-captain . . .
the winning combination of leadership . . .

Every group and team needs leadership and the football team had some of the finest. Under the direction of Coach Donald, Coach Mangum, and Coach Weeden, many different plays and formations were learned. With Mike Turpin, captain, and Steve Stewman, co-captain, these plays were skillfully executed during the games. It takes a great team to win as the Cardinals did, but it takes an even better leadership to guide a team to victory.

If you had asked any member of the football team who the most important people were, they would have said, "Tim and Roger — the managers." Throughout the season, these two boys worked as hard as the team: keeping track of the equipment, being water carriers, in charge of the locker rooms, and all around spirit boosters for the team. You simply couldn't find any better managers for our team than Roger Clayton and Tim Goldsmith.

The crowd was raving, the cheerleaders were ecstatic, and team was pushing its hardest. Wooddale had a touchdown and hundreds of red and blue balloons sailed into the air. This was the night of the 1970 Homecoming, except for the balloons, could have easily been any night of the season. Whether we won or lost, the spirit of the crowd and the team was always binding, turning individuals into Cardinals rooting our team to victory.

This year our Cardinals put on their best in the basketball season. With the outstanding playing of the team and the coaching of Coach C. E. Garrett, the Cardinals had an unsteady season with their record. However, Wooddale always tries its best at everything and our Cardinals devoted measureless time, and effort to basketball this season.

Leaders

cheers . . . pep rallies . . . leaders of the spirit . . . our cheerleading squad . . .

At every game you could always expect the cheerleaders eager and willing to lead the crowd in cheering our team to victory. But the girls were winners themselves. They were awarded second place in the cheerleaders contest at the Mid-South Fair. Under the direction of captain Susan Pittman and co-captain Heather Hammer, our Cardinal cheerleaders put in long hours of practice and hard work to bring spirit to our team and fans.

The favorite American pastime has always been baseball. This was especially true for Wooddale as our baseball team became district champions. They were undefeated throughout the season, a record that spoke well for the talent and sportsmanship of the boys as well as the leadership of Coach Garrett. Our baseball team was another fine part of our school that showed others that Wooddale was best.

A familiar sight in the spring was the track and cross-country teams practicing, practicing, and practicing. But it all paid off as Wooddale formed one of the best track teams in the city. The Indoor Track Team were capital league champs and placed third in the city. The outdoor team placed first in the M.U.S. and Ripley Invitations and were also capital league champions, placing second in the city. The cross country team placed third in the Jonesboro, Arkansas Invitational and fourth in the city. Even though these teams were only a few years old, under the excellent supervision of Coach William Donald, the boys won several trophies and proved themselves to be among the best in the city.

Picnics and Fun

rides . . . paddle-boats . . . dips in the lake . . . a free day from school . . . the senior picnic . . .

Few members of the class of '71 said they would never ride the sky-ride again, but their logic was understandable. Despite an accident which involved several students, the senior picnic provided a free day from school. A few took unexpected swims in the lake, but the class enjoyed their one last fling together.

Karen Feathers and Richard Perkins reflect on their future.

The senior picnic was an experience that no one will ever forget.

Go Together

These boys enjoyed a boat ride at the picnic.

What's down there, girls?

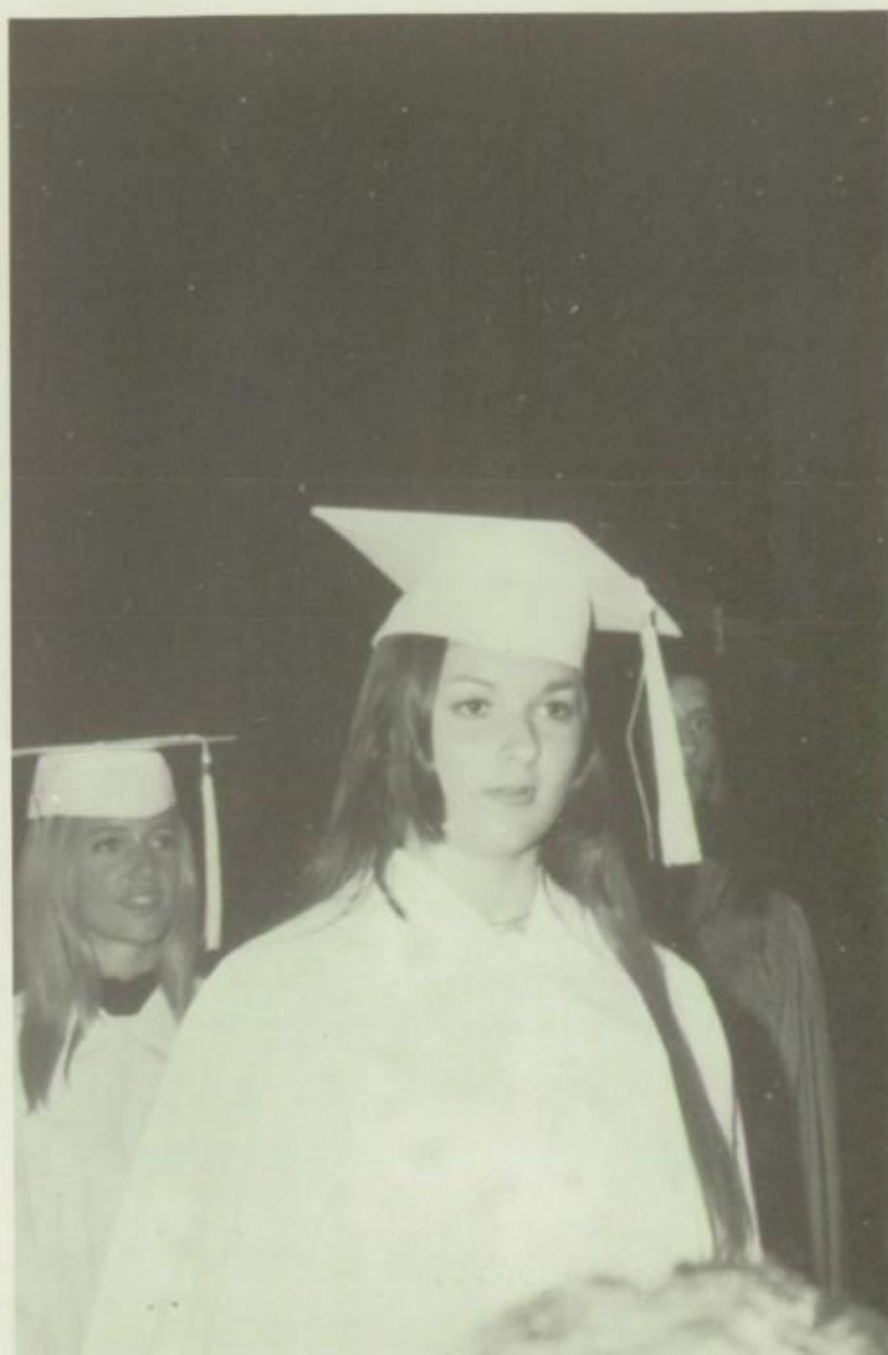

The swinging bridge had much appeal to the class of 1971.

Bettye Azlin and Mike Golden had an exciting ride on the Mad Mouse.

solemnity . . . reverence . . . unification of the senior class . . . baccalaureate of 1971 . . .

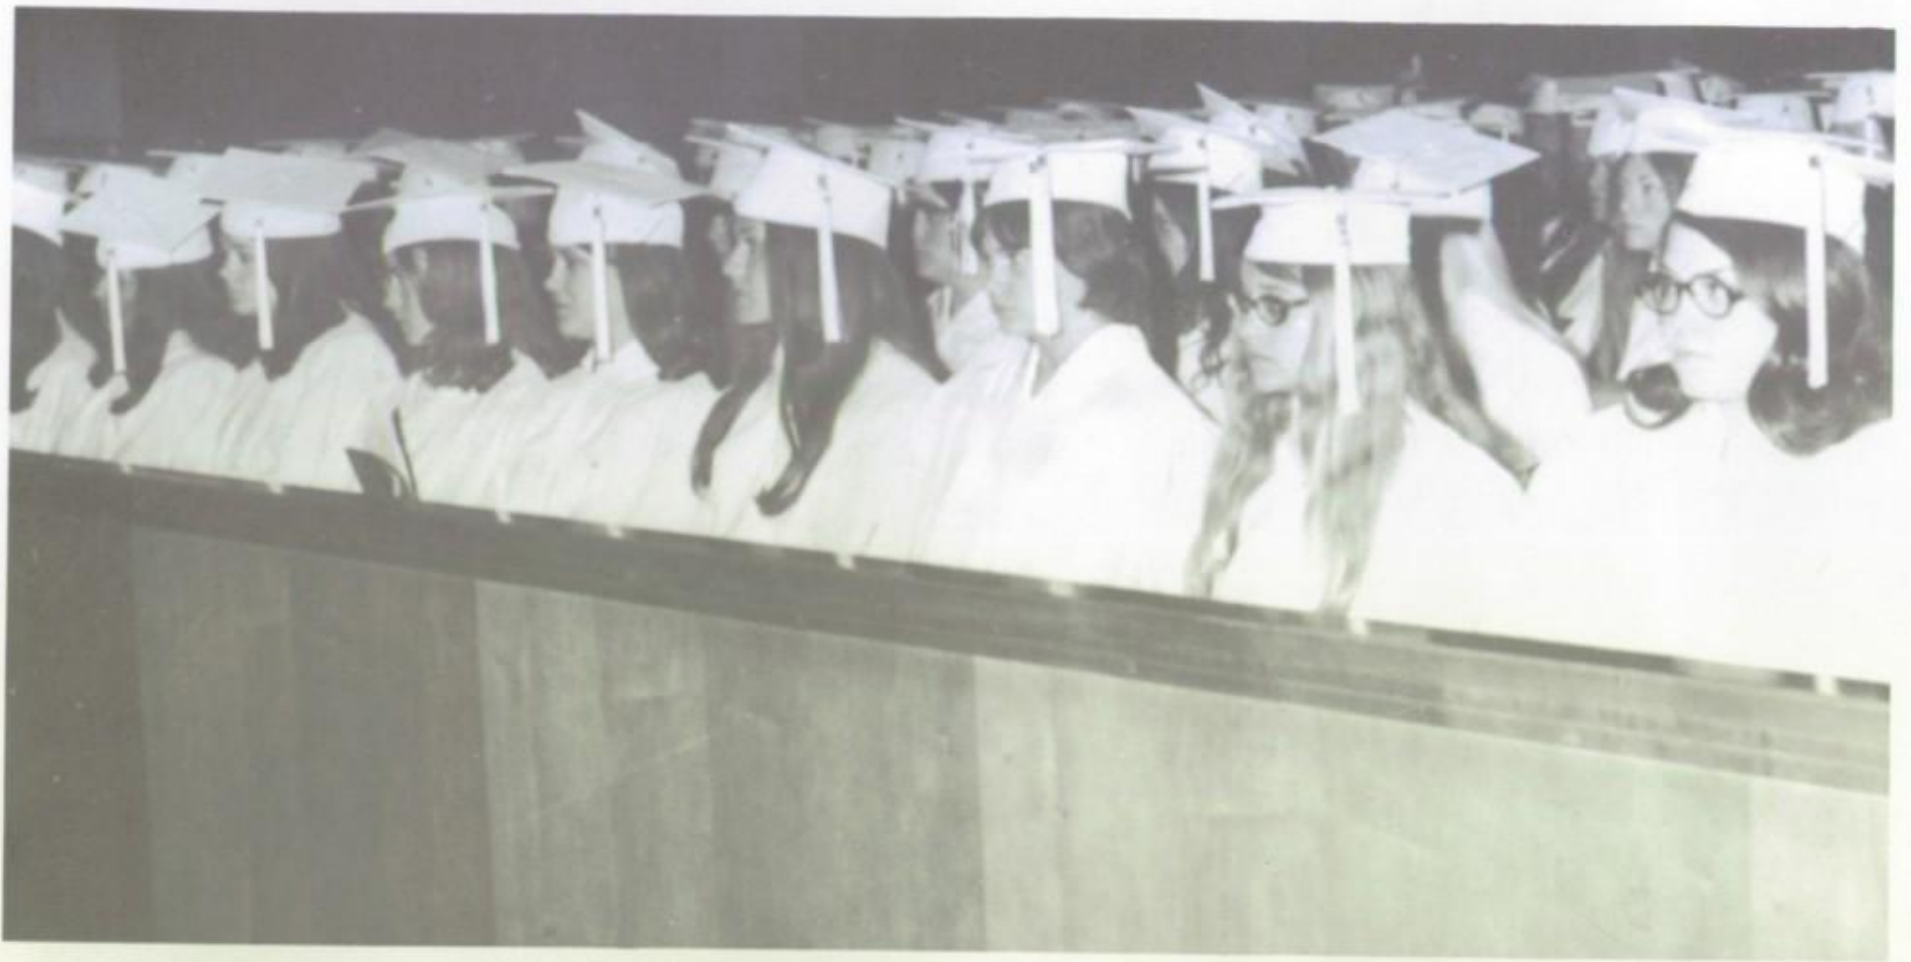

A quiet hush fell on the congregation as the music started and the class of 1971 proceeded down the aisle. It was one of many occasions that the class was together — unified on that solemn occasion. Thoughts of graduation only a few days away stirred every senior. As the service drew to a close, memories were just beginning for the class of 1971.

Perhaps thoughts of her 12 years of high school are on Cindy's mind.

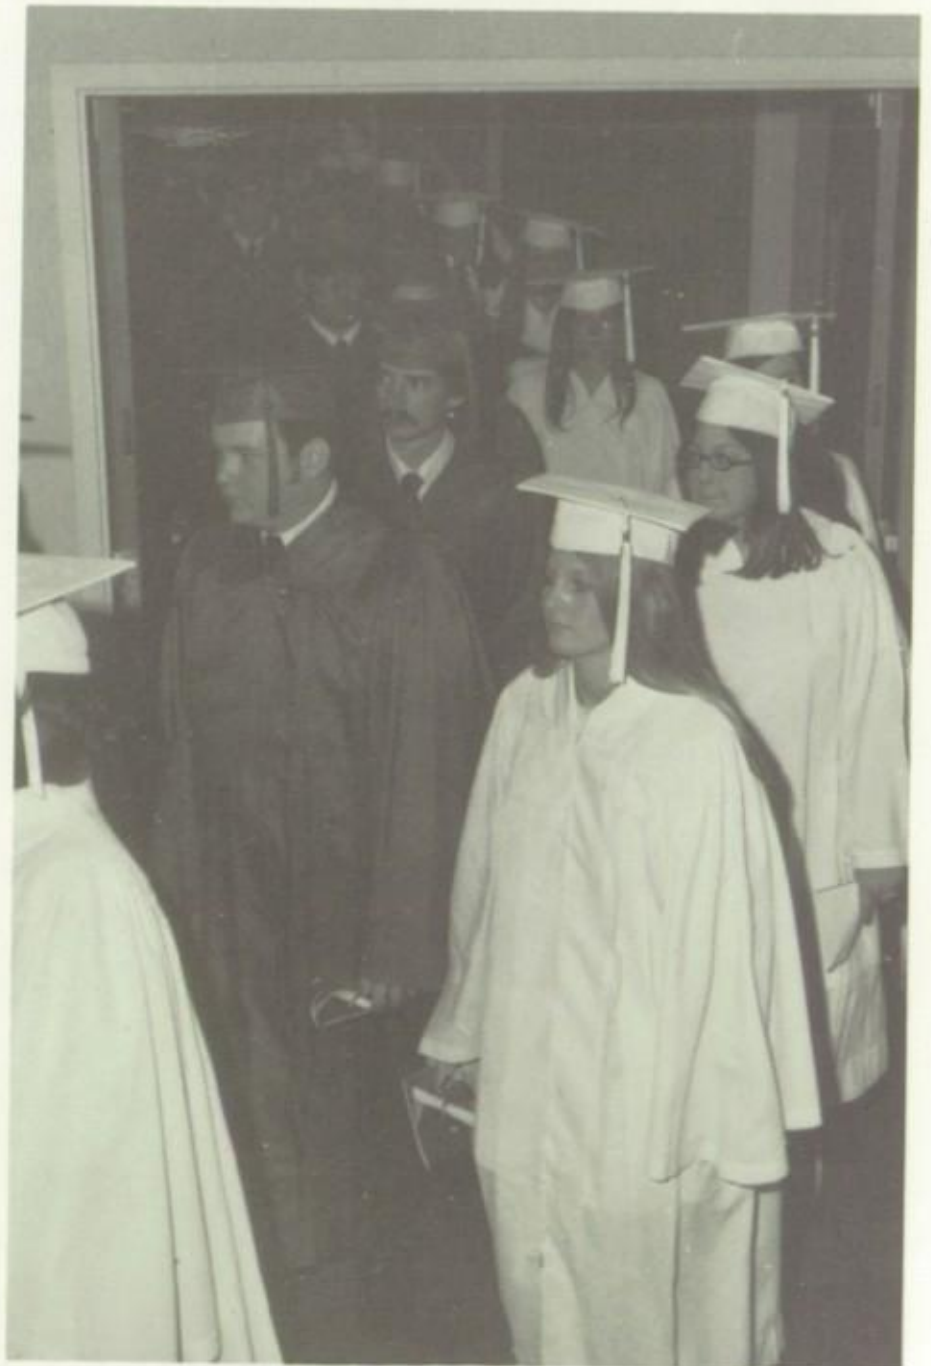

Are these the same boys that we see every day running down the halls of school?

Baccalaureate was a solemn occasion for all present.

Seniors file out after their baccalaureate.

Seniors anxiously await to enter the church.

Seniors Prepare

for Graduation

apprehension . . . tears . . . goodby's . . . nervousness . . .
pinning hats . . . happiness . . . sadness . . . preparation for commencement . . .

Some were crying, some were laughing; but all were excited about graduation. There were last minute alterations and some just couldn't handle — those hats. Thus were the preparations for commencement exercises for the class of '71.

thoughts of the future . . . thoughts of the past
. . . thoughts of now . . . ideals . . . duties . . .

Speeches were given by the class representative and the faculty representative. Mrs. Smith honored those students offered scholarships. Coach Weeden gave recognition to scholastical students. The last duty to be performed was the awarding of diplomas.

Changing of Tassles

Marks New Graduates

The school year started with its usual zest, but soon sounds of "only nine more months" were heard through the halls. But then, the nine months were only nine days and it was almost over. The seniors had activities every chance they could get: Senior skit, Who's Who, Senior Picnic, the Luncheon, Baccalaureate, and — all too quickly — graduation.

For the rest of the school, the end of the year meant three months rest before it was time to begin again. But for the seniors it was the end of a very important and unforgettable part of their lives: twelve years of education. It was also the beginning of an even more important part of their lives: a lifetime of learning.
